A PATIENT POPULACE.

The two passions, ambition and revenge, are the hardest masters that can acquire possession of a human being.

It is an overwhelming ambition that has forced Bartine into the Senatorial fight and it is revenge that animates Woodburn.

It is a shame that makes men blush for their State, when they see a scheming band of political tricksters using the weaknesses of these two men to make cat's paws of them in the political campaign now being waged in this State. Indeed the people of Nevada are a long suffering and forgiving people.

Just imagine speakers going about Pennsylvania and advocating the election of a President who was known to be a bitter enemy of the steel industry. These kind of speakers would be mobbed at every town, rotten egged and perhaps hung.

But in Nevada Bartine and Woodburn go about from town to town advocating the election of an anti-silver ticket and while they have not been greeted with large audiences no one has insulted them in the slightest degree.

Everybody knows that they are the mouth pieces of Wall street, the tools of a clique of played out politicians, who, after looting the State for years, are now ready to sink it still further in the mire in the interests of the money sharks of the East. Think of the affront of these men and then consider the temperance and patience manifested by the people who tolerate such speakers in their camp. Indeed the tolerance and self control manifested by the people of Nevada, ought to commend itself to the admiration of the civilized world.

Bad Taste.

It is bad taste for the News to boast of its circulation, after being compelled to discontinue the taking of the Associated Press dispatches, especially as that circulation was obtained on the promise that the dispatches would be a feature of the paper.—Tribune.

The News made the mistake of supposing that a paper could "catch on" simply by taking dispatches and raising the price.

The taking of the Associate Press dispatches and then discontinuing them is the worst thing the News could have done.

The experiments of these papers in Carson has cost a lot of lunatics about $20,000 in the aggregate, and still there are always to be found people who are ready to back anybody who will start a paper and promise to run out the APPEAL.

The way to run out the APPEAL is to publish a better paper than the APPEAL and get the public to regard it as an organ they can depend on to be run in their interests.

The reason the APPEAL continues to run in Carson is because it is run in the interests of the public, and the public is acquainted with that fact.

The World's Fair Commissioners of California yesterday drew $90,000 the last of a $300,000 appropriation. Compare this with Nevada's.
